Rapid2015

Today, the Rapid nameplate is used for three separate small family cars : a 5-door liftback and a hatchback originating from Europe , a 4-door sedan from China based on the same platform, and India's version of a smaller sedan Rapid based on the PQ25 platform. The liftback in its production form was first shown to the public in September , when it was officially shown at the Paris Motor Show. The hatchback marketed as the Rapid Spaceback premiered at the Frankfurt Motor Show in , with production starting subsequently. Despite increasing interior space while reducing outer dimensions, the boot shrunk only by 35 litres L vs L. The Rapid line-up features three petrol engines and one diesel with various power outputs, all compliant to Euro 5 standards. Several of the petrol units have also been Euro 6 compliant since All engines are four cylinder, except the base 1. All models sold within the Europe are equipped with ESC and six airbags front and side for driver and passenger, curtain airbags. Rapid was facelifted in It received modified front fascia and new headlights, which can be equipped with bi-xenon headlamps with LED lights. The assistance systems were added and in cabin was slightly modified the dashboard. The basic motor instead of 1. The liftback Rapid was facelifted for the second time in late for Russian and CIS markets , bringing significant styling and equipment updates. At the rear, it featured the L-shaped LED taillights. The interior overhaul featured a very similar layout with the Scala and gaining several new features, which include a digital instrument panel, the latest infotainment system featuring a 6. Volkswagen has given the Russian market Polo a Jetta-like front fascia with its front bumper and hood panel borrowed from Jetta VA3 , and a unique rear fascia to differentiate it from the Rapid. The original Rapid liftback was followed by a hatchback called Rapid Spaceback Typ NH1 in September both exhibition premiere and market launch. With launch of the Spaceback, the European Rapid models were given optional low power dipped beam xenon headlights. Due to the high intensity of xenon lamps, by law, if xenon headlights are fitted, headlight washers and dynamic headlight range adjustment must also be used. Both measures are aimed at maintaining the light beam at a constant volume and angle relative to the road surface in order to avoid dazzling other road users. The luminous flux of xenon headlights in the Rapid models is 2, lumens , so there is no need to install a headlight washer system or dynamic range adjustment. The Rapid Spaceback comes with a lockable fuel cap included in the central locking system. This means there is no need to unlock the fuel cap with car keys, the ice scraper is protected from theft, and can be removed only after the car has been unlocked. This change was announced to arrive to the Rapid liftback, too. List of features of the Rapid Spaceback includes an optional false boot floor added. The false floor reduces the height difference between the loading sill and the boot floor and eliminates the step created when the rear seat backs are folded down. In China the Rapid shares body panels and other principal elements with the Chinese Volkswagen Santana , while still featuring identical front fascias with the European liftback. The Indian manufactured Rapid , launched in , is based on Volkswagen Vento Polo sedan which is a completely different model. Despite the European version, both Chinese and Indian models are classic 4-door 3-box sedans. For both the 5-door Spaceback hatchback and 4-door regular sedan, the facelifted Rapid for the Chinese market features new headlights and taillights inspired by the European Scala, an updated grille and refreshed bumpers. The updated interior of the Rapid gains a new 8-inch infotainment system that offers over-the-air updates, and supports both Android Auto and Apple smartphone connectivity. Both the refreshed Rapid and Rapid Spaceback in China are powered by a 1. Mated to either a five-speed manual gearbox or a six-speed automatic gearbox, the powertrain already complies with the updated China VI b emissions standard that came into effect since July The Rapid for Russia and CIS markets which are a heavily revised exterior and interior version of the model will be manufactured by Volkswagen Group Rus in the Kaluga factory alongside the Polo lift-back which is a Skoda Rapid with Volkswagen exterior and interior design cues. The comprehensively tweaked version of Rapid is expected to be introduced here by Until this copiously revised Rapid sedan is launched in India, the upcoming Rapid facelift will act as a buffer. Moreover, Skoda plans to intensify localisation of this facelift; several parts are expected to be heavily localised in order to curb price. Production of the new-generation Rapid will be carried out at the company's manufacturing facility located in Chakan in suburbs of Pune. The Rapid will look completely different from the Volkswagen Vento and might come powered by a new set of turbo petrol and diesel engines. The current Rapid shares striking resemblance with Volkswagen Vento sedan, which is not serving either of the two very well and their sales have dropped to quite a low. The Vento's sales declined drastically after the launch of Rapid, hence Volkswagen officials hinted at barring cross badging between Volkswagen and Skoda in India just a few days ago. That said, you ought to know that the cross-badging between the two carmakers works well in other international markets. For the latest auto news and reviews , follow carandbike. View Photos.
